

Did you know enrollment and completion rates among education majors have steadily declined over the last decade? In addition to other factors, lower starting salaries coupled with student loan debt make education a less attractive field. And while there are student loan initiatives seeking to ease financial pressure, many leave educators in a bind.

Our teachers shape the future. So, why not protect theirs?

Discover how you can reverse enrollment and completion trends by giving your aspiring educators financial security they can depend on.

Explore how at Ardeo.org/education and be part of a brighter, more educated tomorrow.